SEVERE WEATHER Returning to Give Us the Coldest Day of the Season.

DISCOMPORTS ADDED BY DUST AND WIND-PEO-PLE WMO SUFFERED MOST -- POLAR BEARS IN THE PARK CRYING FOR JOY -- FREEZING IN THE STREET-CARS-SKATING.

[Yew York Times, yesterday.]

A bitter cold day was yesterday—the coldest of the season thus far, and an earnest of the "bard winter" which Vennor and his weather-prophets have predicted. To New Yorkers, and particularly to the thousands whose business kept them more or less in the open air, it was a day of extreme discomfort. The crowds which travelled down town between 7 and 11 o'clock had to an average temperature of from 15° to 20° below freezing aggravated by high minds and clouds of dust. The street-car and omnibus interiors more resembled per-ambulating refrigerators than public conthem warm themselves and stretch their frozen limbs in the coffee-bouses and salones are the end of the line was a treet. New York and New England.

THE HORSES had almost as bard a time of it as their ast-pads to protect their chest and lungs against the wintry blasts. At the cab-stands, the barnessed animals stood with lowered beads and cowering flanks as the frost and dust-laden wind swept over them. In the down-town streets crowds of wrapped and moffled pedestrians jostled each tother in their anxiety to get to their journey's end and within doors. The abundance of steam-heat in the ferry-boat cabins was greedily absorbed by half-frozen throngs of passengers, fresh from long rides in tey cars and stages. Overcoats and wraps of all kinds were in great demand, and the wholesale clothing stores on lower Broadway, with their attractive displays of "all-wool" ulsters from $4$ up, were thronged. In Washington Market the butchers sawed and cut their half-frozen beef with chilled fineers, while the standsmen on the outside built canvas awaings to keep off the wind from the river. The infencest cold was experienced in the elevated up-town districts from Fiftieth street up blasts from the northwestward swept the streets with full force, chilling pedestrians to the marrow and nipping ears and fingers with starting quickness. A walk of two the marrow and nipping ears and fingers with startling quickness. A walk of two blocks against this fierce gale was more unendurable than treble the distance down town. Under the lee of the Park, fringed with firs, there was very little wind and comparative shelter.

The two beings who in all New York's population enjoyed yesterday most were the

In this a network of icicles at the sides. In this luxurious retreat, open on all sides, and swept by a twenty-mile-an-hour gale from the mathwest, the two great white-coated beasts fainty cried with joy. They lay down on their backs and rolled and twisted on the icy floor, rubbing their sharp sneets and thick fleecy sides against the tee in wain endowors to extract more of the cold. Their grunts and suiffs of despite the fitting cold, to laugh at their antics. Both brutes were of extra-size, and plung, fat, and active, weighing many fat, and active, weighing many more than in the bot season. Conk ts freezeng rapidly, and fine skating is promised in a few days should the present "cold swap" contione. The Park antiborities bave drawn off the water to the winter depth of from three to four feet—in some parts less—so that the freezing is much more rapid. In the cold weather of two weeks ago, the ice formation was very promising, and but for the thaw sad rain that followed, would have speedily acquired the requisite thickness. About four inches of ice is the lowest itmit secessary to bear up the crowds that flock to the Park officers say, may be expected with a few more days of the present temperature.

The fluctuations of the thermometer at Broadway and Ann street vesterday were as follows: At 6 A. M., 17° above zero; at 12 o'clock noon. 13°; at 230 P. M., 13°; at 12 o'clock noon. 13°; at 230 P. M., 13°; at 6 P. M., 12°; at 10, 41°; at 12 midnight, 10°. The average temperature the same day last year was 44°. A still greater degree of cold was experienced yesterday to the north and west, the thermometer falling to 8° at Buffalo and 30° at Albany.

was at Burlington. Vt., where the mercury registered 1° above zero. At the same time, while there has been a fail of temperature du the States east of the Ohio river and the lakes, there has been a corresponding rise at the West, as indicated by the following temperatures: Chicago, 24°, a rise of 11°; Milwaukee, 26°, a rise of 18°; Duluth, 29°, a rise of 20°, and Fort Garry, Manitobi, a rise of 21°. In Cheyenne and North Platte, to the far West, the readings were 53° and 54° respectfully, or 4° more than in New Orleans, 4,500 to the southward. The Signal-Service officers argue from this that there is a warm wave on its way east, which THE LOWEST TEMPERATURE there is a warm wave on its way east, which will reach the Atlantic scaboard by Sunday unless interfered with by colder currents from the north.

At the summit of the Equitable building the variations of the mercury were from 14° above zero at 7 A. M. to 11° above at 10 P. M. The wind was from the west, varying from fourteen to nineteen miles an hour. The probabilities were that the thermometer would get down to 7° or 8° during the night, sod that the cold would continue unabated throughout to-day.

(By Telegraph.) POCCHE SEPSIE. December 11 .- The mer cury at all points this morning was 3° below zero. The river here is choked with new icc. The Poughkeepsie steamers are still running to New York, but navigation is becoming difficult. RONDOUT, N. Y., December 11.—The thermometer was 4° below zero at 7 o'clock this morning. The ice in Hudson river at this point was two inches thick. The ferryboat between Kingston and Rhinecliff is still running.
